Subject: On Your Decision to Approve Part-Human, Part-Animal Embryos

TWIMC:

I consider today, having read it today, to be a truly dark day in the history of humankind.

I'm not ignorant of the fact that many around the world are engaged in this sort of research; but, that doesn't make it right. Without a moral compass, we will all be led down paths that must surely hold as the real the worst of the nightmares that our writers and dreamers have explored.

Awfully sad,
